Tutoring Experience

With over a decade of tutoring experience, I have worked closely with students to help them achieve outstanding results in both IB and IGCSE Biology. My expertise in genetics and human physiology allows me to simplify complex topics for students, helping them perform exceptionally well in their coursework and exams.

In addition to supporting students academically, I have guided them through Internal Assessments (IAs), ensuring they approach research projects with confidence. Many of my students have pursued careers in biology and environmental sciences, thanks to the solid foundation we've built together throughout their studies.
